Manufacturing Quality Products

The Kapal Difference

At Kapal, we pride ourselves on delivering timely service, exceptional craftsmanship, and top-quality manufacturing of residential and commercial kitchen cabinets and countertops throughout the Texas Rio Grande Valley. Our wide selection of wood types, stone colors, finishes, and hardware allows our customers to personalize their spaces with ease. We believe that style goes beyond aesthetics, and we're dedicated to bringing each customer's vision to life.

Kapal's journey began in 2008 with our first 10,000-square-foot cabinetry production plant. By 2011, we had expanded to 20,000 square feet, and in 2014, we entered the granite and quartz industry, reaching a total of 40,000 square feet of manufacturing facilities. In 2017, we introduced a state-of-the-art facility adjacent to our cabinetry plant, specializing in the fabrication of granite, quartz, and solid surface countertops—particularly for multifamily apartments and the hospitality industry.

In 2018, we moved our cabinetry plant to an 80,000-square-foot facility in Weslaco, TX. In 2024, we added an additional 10,000 square feet to the Weslaco facility for the storage of finished products, bringing our total manufacturing and storage space to an impressive 150,000 square feet. This growth enables us to better serve our customers with precision and efficiency.

We are proud to be among the first turnkey manufacturers to offer both cabinets and countertops with short lead times. With Kapal, you can trust that your project is in capable hands, managed by experts dedicated to professionalism and superior craftsmanship from conception to completion.

Tips on Caring for Granite & Quartz Countertops

When it comes to cleaning your kitchen counters, one method does not fit all. Here's how to keep your granite and quartz countertops in top shape.

Granite

■ Clean Daily:

Wipe down your granite countertops with a damp cloth and a few drops of dishwashing soap. Rinse with clean water and dry with a soft cloth. There's no need to use chemicals or specialty cleaners every day.

■ Seal Annually:

Apply a granite sealer every 12 months to protect against stains and germs. Sealing helps prevent damage from settling into the pores and natural cracks of the stone.

■ Avoid Harsh Chemicals:

Do not use vinegar, lemon juice, or harsh cleaners, as well as abrasive materials, which can damage the surface.

Quartz

■ Cleaning Quartz:

The best way to clean quartz countertops is with mild dish soap, water, and a soft, non-abrasive cloth. While quartz is stain-resistant, it is not completely stain-proof, so it's important to clean up spills and messes as soon as possible.

■ Heat Resistance:

Quartz is burn-resistant under normal conditions, but it's still best to use a trivet or hot pad beneath heat-generating items such as hot pans or crockpots. Be cautious of sudden temperature changes, especially near edges or cutouts, as this can cause cracks in the countertop.

■ Tough Cleaning:

For tougher stains like hardened food or dried grease, use a plastic putty knife to gently scrape the area before wiping it down. Avoid using abrasive scouring pads, which can scratch the surface over time. A mild degreaser labeled safe for quartz can help break down hardened grease. Do not use bleach-based cleaners, as they can damage the surface.
